Another young Richmond authoress, whose stories have already been most favorably noticed by McClure's and other publishers, and who has several short and long romances soon to appear, is Miss Norvell Harrison. ONLY ONE DISTILLERY.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHATHAM, VA., May 1.—Beginning with to-day only one licensed distillery is now in operation in Pittsylvania county, which is located at Dry Fork, four miles south of this place, and within a very short distance of the plant of the Dry Fork Distilling Company, which has been attracting so much attention of late. The entire output of the distillery now in operation has been delivered to the Southern Railway Company, the only common carrier touching Dry Fork, and every gallon delivered to citizens of Pittsylvania has to be delivered to the company at this place, which means much increase in the express business.

About fifteen distilleries went out of business to-day, and of that number possibly not more than four will make application for license, and of this number one or two may be granted license. Four applied at the last term of court, and of that number only one was granted license, and this applicant is located in a section where he has not been opposed by the Anti-Saloon League.

HAVE NO VARIETY SHOWS.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., May 1.—For the first time in several generations Norfolk is free of cheap variety shows, which have been known as features of certain sections of the city since and even before the war. In years past they have been the scenes of many disorders and "high old times" for those out "doing the town."

Not one has been granted a license. It is further known that the Liquor Dealers' Association opposed the proprietors asking for a renewal of licenses, while the Anti-Saloon League announced in the beginning that such applications would be vigorously opposed. It is said that the liquor dealers decided that in the interest of the business they should be closed up.

People Indignant at Action of Magistrate in Committing Them.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

GATE CITY, VA., May 1.—App. Payn, aged thirteen, and Harmon, another quite twelve years old, were lodged in jail here yesterday in default of a fine of $10 each. They were fined by W. C. Sprinkle, a justice of the peace of Powell District, on a charge of shooting on Sunday.

Great indignation is expressed here, and even the sheriff condemns the action of the magistrate. The boys live in a district long dominated by the present Republican county chairman, and the community in which the two Democratic election judges were killed in 1903.

WELL-KNOWN COAL MANAGER WITH CHESAPEAKE COMPANY.

The new company with which Mr. Barnett is associated will do an extensive business out of Norfolk at the completion of the Virginian Railway and its great coal piers at Sewell's Point.

NOT CONVICT ON EVIDENCE OF DOGS

Suffolk's Mayor Dismisses Case of Alleged Peeping Tom, Trained by Bloodhounds.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SUFFOLK, VA., May 1.—Mayor Norfleet, in the police court to-day, refused to convict Harry Briggs on "dog" evidence, and when the prosecuting attorney began his closing argument the court said it was useless, and that he should dismiss the case. Briggs was accused of playing "Peeping Tom" Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Carrie Cowling and two daughters, on Saratoga Street. The shutters of the Misses Cowling's bedroom were opened at retiring time, and the trespasser was seen on the floor, opened fire when the girls made an outcry, and later bloodhounds, after following the trail eight squares, cornered Briggs at a machine plant. The trespasser was not recognized, and the prosecution relied on bloodhound evidence to convict. At the conclusion of Attorney Withers' plea for the defense, Mayor Norfleet dismissed the case, saying a conviction could not be had, but expressed indignation at the offense, and said he would like to have been present with a thirty-eight gun and to have put the contents under the guilty person's nose. He declared that the evidence justified he would inflict the most severe penalty possible. Women recently have been disturbed by night prowlers on several streets, and public sentiment is strong, but no conviction has been secured. The court did not hold the crowd at to-day's trial.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEWBERN, N. C., May 1.—Last night an unknown negro knocked down Mrs. J. B. Watson, when she was within a few feet of her home and snatched her purse containing about $15 and some papers. Mrs. Watson had been down town, and was near home on her return when she saw a negro man on the sidewalk trying to steal her purse. She called to him, and when he refused to stop she grabbed her purse and knocked her down on the sidewalk. Neighbors hearing her cries, ran to her assistance. By the time they reached her the negro was gone. Mrs. Watson sustained no injuries beyond the fright, and the only damage was the loss of the purse and an umbrella, which was broken in some way.

BUILD COTTAGE AT JACKSON SCHOOL

King's Daughters Decide to Erect One "In His Name"—Business of Convention.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., May 1.—The nineteenth annual session of the State Convention of the King's Daughters adjourned to-night to meet in Greenville next year. Mrs. W. H. S. Burge, State secretary, and other officers were re-elected.

The second day's session was devoted largely to consideration of matters pertaining to the Stonewall Jackson Training School, the reformatory for youthful offenders, the establishment of which has come largely through the efforts of the North Carolina King's Daughters. Superintendent Walter Thompson, of the school, gave an account of the progress of the work of developing the grounds near Concord and preliminary work for the cottages and other buildings soon to be erected. He recommended that the King's Daughters provide one of the cottages needed at this time instead of the workshop, for which they have already accumulated $1,000. Action to this effect was taken and a resolution passed that the name of the cottage be "King's Daughters Cottage," built in his name.

This afternoon there was an address by Dr. Della Dixon Carroll on "The Unification of Woman's Work in North Carolina." There were also at 5 o'clock this evening addresses by Dr. H. A. Royter, Superintendent, Walter Thompson and Director J. P. Cook, of the Stonewall Jackson Training School, along the line of the work that needs to be done in promoting the success of the institution.
